Hygiene and precision!

The food industry is one of the largest worldwide, and its complexity and diversity presents roller chain manufacturers with extremely demanding challenges. We use particularly narrow tolerances and state-of-the-art manufacturing processes to guarantee the high precision of our chains.

We are a specialist producer of precision chain systems that offer individual solutions for critical issues such as hygiene requirements, various temperature ranges or corrosion resistance.

We will be glad to provide support and advice for the configuration of the chain for your application!

Highlights

- Increased productivity
- Reduced machine downtimes
- Highest possible length accuracy and pair tolerances
- Optimum lubricant used
- Local customer care by iwis staff

iwis antriebssysteme regards itself as a development partner and technology leader who can help you to meet the challenges facing you. State-of-the-art simulation and configuration tools developed in-house help our design engineers to decide on the right products at an early stage.
